

The Bell
Policy Center

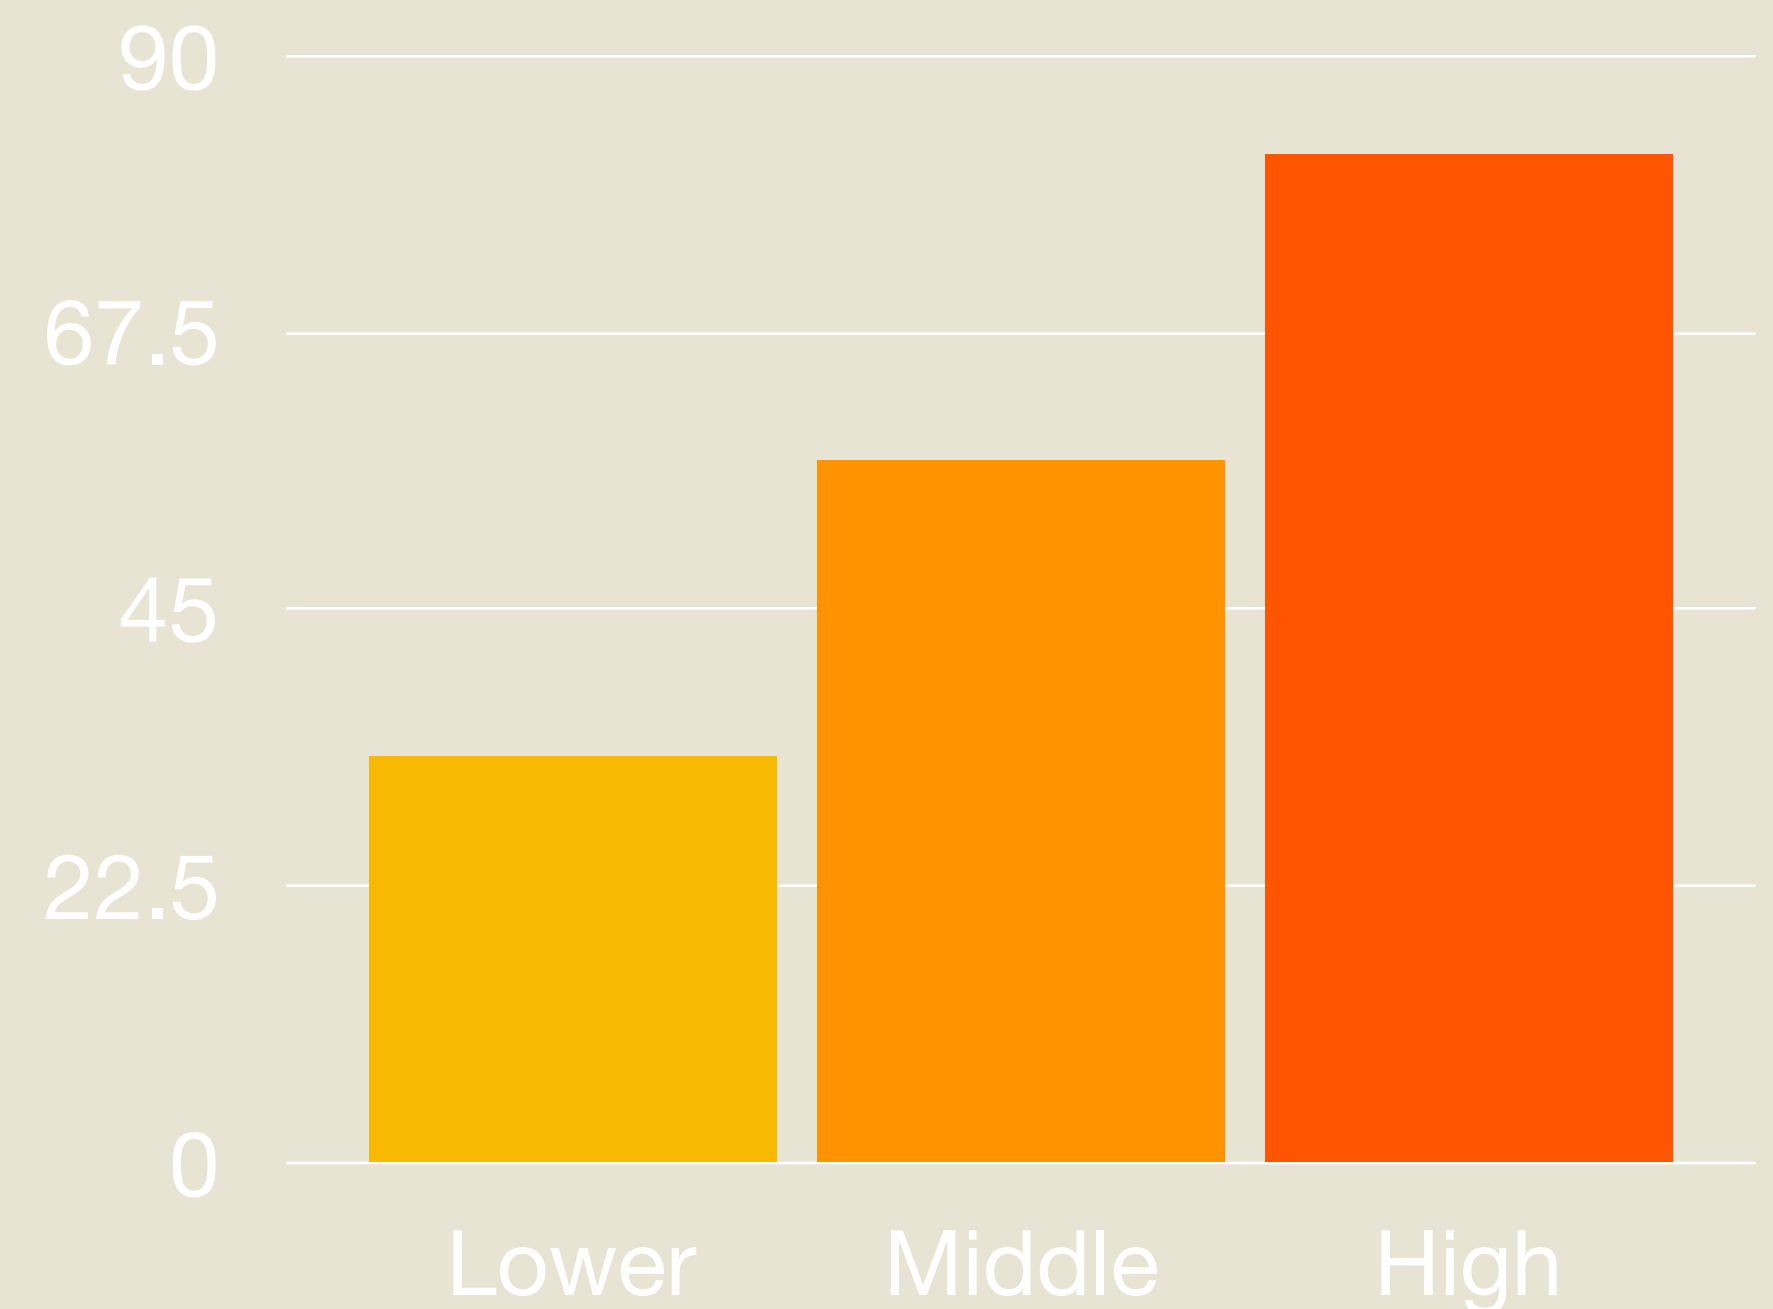

How did you do?

Bachelor's Degree

Around 41% of families have at least one adult family member who has a bachelor's degree, and that number is increasing. That's pretty impressive. Lower and upper income households have experienced similar growth. That, combined with figures on graduate degrees suggests a bachelor's degree alone is not enough to contribute to a family's upward mobility.

% Earned a BA/BS 2016

The Bell
Policy Center

Continue